

POLS 4530: Political Parties

Agenda Topic 1

A. The English Context -- American Institutions are English

1. Political -- Representative Government; Separation of Powers; the Common Law
2. Economic -- Private Property Rights Enforced by Government

B. General Theme -- The interaction of Private Property Rights and Representative Democracy. This interaction is dynamic and produces feedback effects between the Political System and the Economic System. Geographic Based Representation Precludes a Parliamentary style system. Plurality Election Produces 2 Political Parties.

1. Inventors and Entrepreneurs Create things! These creations produce Unanticipated Structural Changes in the Economy and the social system!
2. These Unanticipated Structure Changes Generate Massive Ripple Effects in the Economic and Political Systems.
3. These Ripple Effects Produce a Political Response.
4. The Political Responses produces a Feedback into the Economic System by altering the structure of incentives.
5. The Nature of the Political Response is shaped by Ideology. The Glue that binds together the members of a Political Party is provided by a set of beliefs about what is "good" -- Who gets what, who should rule.
6. The Effects of Shocks Go Both Ways -- There can be Political Shocks -- War -- that produce Economic Change.

C. The Historical Context of Federalist # 10

1. The Colonial Economy
 - a. Virginia: Tobacco and Indentured Servitude
 - b. The Carolinas: Naval Stores, Indigo, and Rice

- c. Georgia: Rice
- d. New England: Timber, grains, Rum, Ships

2. Colonial Politics

- a. BiCameral Legislatures -- House of Burgesses in Virginia founded 1619
 - Population Based
 - Legislatures Expanded as Population Expanded
 - Legislatures Very Active -- Land had to be distributed; public facilities had to be provided for an ever rapidly growing population
- b. Social Classes were Very Fluid -- No Real Aristocracy
- c. Economy Rapidly Shifted as it Diversified with the Rapidly Expanding Population -- This Constantly Produced New Self-Made Men -- Successful Merchants, Shippers, Growers, Mechanics, etc. -- So Political Alliances were fluid and were in constant ferment.
- d. The Royal Governors did not have enough British Troops to enforce their will so they were never able to assert much control.
- e. The combination of Fluid Social Classes and little or no British Military presence meant that the rampant factionalism was uncontrollable.

3. The Economic Grievances that led to the War for Independence

- a. The Navigation Acts and Enumerated Articles
- b. The Cost of the French-Indian War 1753-1763
- c. British Payment of Defense Costs of Colonies Led to Attempts to Tax

4. The Political Grievances that led to the War for Independence

- a. The Economic Burden of Taxation by Britain
- b. Winners and Losers From the Navigation Acts
- c. Various Acts of Parliament 1763 - 1774 that Negated
Fundament Rights of the Colonists

5. The Interaction Between the Economic and Political Grievances
