POLS 4530: Political Parties

Agenda Topic 1

- A. The English Context -- American Institutions are English
 - 1. Political -- Representative Government; Separation of Powers; the Common Law
 - 2. Economic -- Private Property Rights Enforced by Government
- B. General Theme -- The interaction of Private Property Rights and Representative Democracy. This interaction is dynamic and produces feedback effects between the Political System and the Economic System. Geographic Based Representation Precludes a Parliamentary style system. Plurality Election Produces 2 Political Parties.
 - 1. Inventors and Entrepreneurs Create things! These creations produce Unanticipated Structural Changes in the Economy and the social system!
 - 2. These Unanticipated Structure Changes Generate Massive Ripple Effects in the Economic and Political Systems.
 - 3. These Ripple Effects Produce a Political Response.
 - 4. The Political Reponses produces a Feedback into the Economic System by altering the structure of incentives.
 - 5. The Nature of the Political Response is shaped by Ideology. The Glue that binds together the members of a Political Party is provided by a set of beliefs about what is "good" -- Who gets what, who should rule.
 - 6. The Effects of Shocks Go Both Ways -- There can be Political Shocks -- War -- that produce Economic Change.
 - C. The Historical Context of Federalist # 10
 - 1. The Colonial Economy
 - a. Virginia: Tobacco and Indentured Servitude
 - b. The Carolinas: Naval Stores, Indigo, and Rice

- c. Georgia: Rice
- d. New England: Timber, grains, Rum, Ships

2. Colonial Politics

- a. BiCameral Legislatures -- House of Burgesses in Virginia founded 1619
 - Population Based
 - Legislatures Expanded as Population Expanded
 - Legislatures Very Active -- Land had to be distributed; public facilities had to be provided for an ever rapidly growing population
- b. Social Classes were Very Fluid -- No Real Aristocracy
- c. Economy Rapidly Shifted as it Diversified with the Rapidly Expanding Population -- This Constantly Produced New Self-Made Men -- Successful Merchants, Shippers, Growers, Mechanics, etc. -- So Political Alliances were fluid and were in constant ferment.
- d. The Royal Governors did not have enough British Troops to enforce their will so they were never able to assert much control.
- e. The combination of Fluid Social Classes and little or no British Military presence meant that the rampant factionalism was uncontrollable.
- 3. The Economic Grievances that led to the War for Independence
 - a. The Navigation Acts and Enumerated Articles
 - b. The Cost of the French-Indian War 1753-1763
 - c. British Payment of Defense Costs of Colonies Led to Attempts to Tax
- 4. The Political Grievances that led to the War for Independence

- a. The Economic Burden of Taxation by Britain
- b. Winners and Losers From the Navigation Acts
- c. Various Acts of Parliament 1763 1774 that Negated Fundament Rights of the Colonists
- 5. The Interaction Between the Economic and Political Grievances

D. Federalist # 10

- 1. Madison's Argument for the Constitution
- 2. Problems With Madison's Argument
- 3. Madison's view of Political Parties
- 4. Madison's Key Insights Into the Nature of Politics